MacArthur Reports 110-Mile Advance on Philippines

Fall of Dutch New Guinea Now Held Imminent

Japs Pushed Back In Island Drive

By ASAHIEL BUSH
ADVANCED ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, NEW GUINEA, Friday, May 19 (P)—The bulk of the Japanese air bases, and a rapidly expanding beachhead on nearby Dutch New Guinea were seized Wednesday and Thursday by Americans leaping 120 miles beyond Hollandia in a twin amphibious operation covered by warships and planes.

Gen. Douglas MacArthur, announcing the one-two strike today, forecast the early fall of the remaining Dutch New Guinea territory between him and his avowed return to the Philippines.

What Drive Means
Subsequently a headquarters statement pointed out that the drive (1) moved MacArthur's forces "110 miles nearer the Philippines and the Netherlands East Indies"; (2) provided forward bases for "deeper, harder blows . . . bringing all Dutch New Guinea under Allied air domination"; and (3) meant the Japanese had been pushed back 1,000 miles from their deepest Southwest Pacific advance point at Milne bay, New Guinea.

Despite the warning the Japanese had been given by incessant air attacks, the invaders effected surprise and suffered only light casualties.

The invasion experienced soldiers first went ashore at Toem on the mainland, two miles south of Wakde, Wednesday. The landing was without opposition there and today's communique said the Japanese were "completely surprised."

Coral Islets Stormed
Thursday, Wakde's two low-lying coral islets, developed by the Japanese into air staging bases, were stormed from the mainland in the second amphibious thrust in two days against moderate resistance.

At the same time, Thursday, other American invasion forces on the mainland spread out east and west of their original landing point. These movements too were carried out against "trifling opposition."

The multi-pronged enterprise, which General MacArthur said pre-empted "reconquest of the entire province," followed the now familiar pattern for Southwest Pacific invasions.

The supporting air attack and naval bombardment were implemented by a rocket gun barrage. Then successive waves of barges, first light ones, subsequently larger troop and supply carriers, hit the mainland.

Many of the barges were beached with some difficulty on the steeply sloping shoreline but there was no material disruption of the invasion schedule.

Stimson Reviews Progress of War

Pleased with Gains Of Allied Forces

WASHINGTON, May 18 (P)—Secretary of War Stimson, who is invariably conservative in his forecasts, said today the Allied successes in Southeast Asia have raised "at least the possibility" of linking the Loo and Burma roads to open a new supply route to China.

In a news conference discussion, the war secretary also made these two other major points:

1. The next steps in the Italian campaign will be "exceedingly difficult" as the Adolf Hitler line, with which the Allies now are in contact, has been heavily reinforced by German engineers. Beyond this line, mountains flank the routes to the north.

2. Nazi propaganda on the forthcoming invasion is intended to confuse the Allied peoples. Stimson asked that the American public be alert to the enemy tricks and remain cool. "The day of invasion" will come but it will not be the one the Nazis have selected," he said. "When there is news to be told, we shall tell it."

As to developments in Southeast Asia, Stimson pointed out that the Chinese troops thrusting across the Salween river are only about eighty miles from Myitkyna, North Burma town under siege by Gen. Joseph W. Stilwell's American-Chinese forces.

Larry Allen Tells You:

Former Mt. Savage Writer Describes Capture by the Italians at Tobruk

Editor's note: Larry Allen, Associated Press war correspondent, of Mt. Savage, Md., tells in the following dispatch of his unsuccessful effort to interview Field Marshal Erwin Rommel, after he had been made a prisoner of war. The German radio first publicized the incident, which occurred after Allen's capture off Tobruk in September, 1942. Allen was exchanged at Barcelona Wednesday.

By LARRY ALLEN
ABOARD THE EXCHANGE LINER GRIPSHOLM, BARCELONA, May 18 (P)—Twenty long months of Italian and German prison camps, my third sinking and fifth torpedoing have been added to my experiences as war correspondent, which already had included two years aboard warships of the British Mediterranean fleet.

On the morning of Sept. 14, 1942, I was aboard the flagship destroyer Sikh, leading a squadron into the Axis-occupied harbor of Tobruk to land troops and "beat up" that enemy base.

Apparently tipped the raid was coming, the German and Italian garrisons were waiting. Coastal batteries opened fire about 3 a. m. Just as the first disembarked British marines and troops were touching shore.

First salvos tore into the Sikh's engine room and set her afire. The Sikh's crew fired back everything but the anchor. To prevent her from blowing to bits, Capt. St. John Mickelthwait of London ordered the magazine flooded. For the next four hours Axis guns battered her to pieces.

Thousands of shells were fired before the fatally stricken Sikh turned over on her port side with thirty shell holes.

Then suddenly came the captain's order to abandon ship. While shells (Continued on Page 19, Col. 5)

Leaders Discuss Postwar Problems

Churchmen Confer On Needs of Vets

BALTIMORE, May 18 (P)—Forum discussion of the church's postwar program in the parish and community with respect to needs of returning war veterans featured final sessions today of the national conference on the ministry of the Church to Servicemen and Women.

Following an address by the Rev. Dr. John H. Gardner, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, Baltimore, M. J. Creeger, chairman of the steering committee for the national conference, summarized the activities of the meeting, which was the first of a series to be held throughout the country.

Problem for Leaders
Dr. Gardner told the 250 Protestant leaders attending that any reasonable program a local church may follow must be conditioned by what the returning serviceman will be like and the kind of gospel each parish seeks to interpret.

In a forum on planning the program of the church in the local community, John W. Harms, executive secretary of the Church Federation of Greater Chicago, advocated a national plan of co-operation with the Roman Catholic, Jewish and Protestant services on the same basis.

Using the present USO setup as an example, Harms said Protestant co-operation on the community level was much less inherent in national structure than that of the Roman Catholics or Jews.

Would Unite Groups
This agency, the Chicago leader asserted, should relate the Protestants as closely to such organizations as the USO as the Catholic and Jewish churches are related to them.

That churches contribute to community planning and other local programs in the postwar world was urged by E. J. Sproul, program executive of the National Council of the YMCA in New York city, who gave the opening address of today's meeting.

Sales of Ouija Board Increase

BALTIMORE, May 18 (P)—The ouija board, a mystic question answerer originated in Baltimore, replied "yes" today when queried on the report that sales of the device were experiencing a wartime boom.

The ouija was invented or developed by William A. Fuld, a former customs inspector who obtained patents and trade mark rights on it in 1892 and made more than $1,000,000 in the few years following World War I.

Invasion Weather Reported Good

LONDON, May 18 (P)—The sky over the straits was almost clear tonight after a day of thunderstorms, hail and occasional sunshine.

Light northeasterly winds kept the temperature down. At 10:30 p. m. the reading was 59.

The sea was smooth, visibility good and barometer — steady most of the day — rose slightly.

High tide at Dover and Calais Friday will be at 10:49 a. m. and 11:02 p. m.

Denies Dr. Lind Menaced Miller

Self Defense Plea Refuted on Stand

WASHINGTON, May 18 (P)—Testimony that Attorney Robert I. Miller shot Dr. John E. Lind, noted psychiatrist, and then placed an envelope containing another gun beside the body was introduced today at the sixty-seven year old lawyer's murder trial.

A negro porter, Lamar D. Johnson, said that immediately after the shooting, he saw Miller put an envelope containing the second weapon on the seat of Dr. Lind's coupe.

The government charges Miller killed Lind in a jealous rage after seeing his forty-two year old wife enter the car with Lind on a busy downtown street corner.

Pleas Self Defense
Miller, long a familiar figure in Washington police courts, contends he fired in self defense during a scuffle with the 57-year-old psychiatrist.

The porter, Johnson, described by the prosecution as one of its key witnesses, told of seeing Miller pace "nervously" back and forth in front of a department store where his wife had gone to exchange a bra-size, on Feb. 21.

The porter then told of seeing a woman enter a coupe which had approached at slow speed.

"Just as she closed the door," he said, "Mr. Miller brushed past me and yanked the door out of the lady's hand. Then he went to grab at the man in the seat. The lady tried to push him away. She yelled at him to stop. She called out a name, but I couldn't understand it."

Witness Shooting
"Then Mr. Miller took a nickel-plated revolver out of his right overcoat pocket and shot the man in the chest. The man sort of slumped over. He tried to ward off Mr. Miller, but Mr. Miller got past his guard. Then there was another shot."

"The lady finally got past him. She pulled at his left arm trying to pull him back to the curb. He was still leaning into the car. Then he reached into his left overcoat pocket and pulled out a white object and laid it on the seat. Then the lady pulled him back to the curb. After she had pulled him away, I noticed there was a gun in the white object."

Marshall Field Sued by Avery

Marshall Field Sued by Avery

CHICAGO, May 18 (P)—Sewell L. Avery, chairman of Montgomery Ward and Company, today sued Marshall Field, publisher of the Chicago Sun, for $1,000,000, alleging Field "maliciously published untrue, false and defamatory statements" about Avery and his business.

A federal court suit alleged Avery was libeled in articles written by Thomas F. Reynolds and Charles O. Gridley of the Sun's Washington bureau.

Avery's complaint stated the Sun "acclaimed the action of the administration and violently attacked" Avery for seeking to "protect and defend the property of the (Montgomery Ward) Company from unlawful seizure" by the federal government April 26. Control of the mail order concern's Chicago property was returned to the management on May 9.

"While there is yet no direct proof they are working under direct control of a foreign power," the broadcast said, "indications are the organization was a pro-German one based on racialism and fascist principles."

The radio said Pan-Turanian leaders lately had been "building up a nation-wide organization, preparing plans and signing agreements aimed at overthrow of the present regime" in neutral Turkey.

It added the army had made several raids at Istanbul and Ankara on premises occupied by Mihail Abdul, a newspaper owner, and had seized documents disclosing the organization's ramifications and activities.

Allies Resume Bombing Raids On Nazi Europe

Americans Blast Big Oil Center

By GLADWIN HILL

LONDON, May 18 (P)—The Allied heavy bomber assault on Hitler's Europe was resumed today with a strong American blow from Italian bases on the much-battered Romanian oil and rail center of Ploesti, on rail yards at the Yugoslav capital of Belgrade and on the key Yugoslav railway junction of Nis.

Flying Fortresses and Liberators flew 600 miles to Ploesti and about 350 miles to reach the other two targets, running into Nazi fighter opposition which the Berlin radio said resulted in air battles over both Romania and Yugoslavia. Lightning, Thunderbolt and Mustang fighters accompanied the bombers.

End Four-Day Lull

The far-flung attack, which on the basis of recent operations probably numbered up to 1,000 bombers and fighters, broke a four-day lull in the Allies' month-long aerial pincers from Britain and the Mediterranean against the heart of Europe.

The big oil refineries and railway yards at Ploesti were the targets there, but weather conditions prevented observation of results. These targets had been hit four times previously, the last time May 5.

Report Good Results
Returning crews reported good results at Belgrade and Nis, the latter a "Y" junction 130 miles southeast of Belgrade from which the main railway from the north splits to serve Istanbul on the east and Athens on the west. The line is of strategic importance to the Axis.

The blow at Ploesti was against supplies for the Russian front. It was recently announced Allied Mediterranean headquarters that the previous Ploesti raids had cut the oil output there by seventy-five per cent.

With channel skies still murky, the British end of the aerial offensive ran through a fifth day of lull. Not since the middle of February have the American and British air forces been compelled to spend so many consecutive days of idleness.

Experts Predict Labor Shortages

WASHINGTON, May 18 (P)—The nation is confronted by critical and even "desperate" labor shortages, the government's top war production experts told the Senate Military committee today in urging action—quick—on "work or fight" legislation.

War Production Chairman Donald M. Nelson, calling for "relief now," said labor in foundries is so scarce as to endanger production of airplanes and landing craft. In the critical class he listed forgings, ball bearings, lumber and textiles. He figured 300,000 to 400,000 additional workers are needed.

Leaders Testify
Nelson, acting Navy Secretary James V. Forrestal, and Undersecretary of War Robert P. Patterson testified for a measure which would permit the drafting of:

Men 18 to 45 into military or work units if they quit or refused farm or essential industry jobs without authorization of draft boards.

Men physically unfit for military service into work units, unless they obtained war jobs.

Forrestal said the legislation was merely a "statement of the obligations of citizenship," a declaration to "our duty to support the men who actually go into battle."

Martial Law Imposed at Istanbul To Halt Pro-Nazi Demonstrations

LONDON, May 18 (P)—Martial law was imposed at Istanbul today because of unconstitutional activities of the Turkish pro-Nazi organization, "Pan-Turanian," which caused public demonstrations, said an Ankara broadcast tonight received by the British Ministry of Information.

The radio said a number of Pan-Turanian leaders had been arrested and charged with "activities against the constitution."

It was declared that the Pan-Turanian "made use of ciphers and codes in communications with its members."

"While there is yet no direct proof they are working under direct control of a foreign power," the broadcast said, "indications are the organization was a pro-German one based on racialism and fascist principles."

The radio said Pan-Turanian leaders lately had been "building up a nation-wide organization, preparing plans and signing agreements aimed at overthrow of the present regime" in neutral Turkey.

It added the army had made several raids at Istanbul and Ankara on premises occupied by Mihail Abdul, a newspaper owner, and had seized documents disclosing the organization's ramifications and activities.

Veterans' Bill Of Rights Wins In House Vote

Greatly Changed From Senate Plan

WASHINGTON, May 18 (P)—The House late today passed the "G. I. Bill of Rights," an overall veterans' benefits measure, after rejecting an amendment that would have prohibited unions from requiring that veterans hold a union card to work in a "closed shop."

Before sending the measure back to the Senate for action on a score of amendments, the House raised from $1,500 to $2,500 the maximum of government-guaranteed loans to veterans, refused to increase the period of unemployment compensation coverage from 26 to 52 weeks, and rejected amendments to reduce loan interest rates from six to four per cent and to strike from the bill a ban against payment of unemployment benefits to veterans who engage in strikes.

Week of Debate
Passage followed more than a week of debate, most of which was devoted to the educational provisions which finally were retained almost intact as written by the House Veterans committee.

The committee virtually rewrote the measure passed by the Senate before the Easter recess, and a protracted conference is expected to be necessary to compromise differences between the two branches.

The labor issue was injected into the debate shortly before passage by amendments offered by Representatives Marcantonio (Ann. Lab. N.Y.) and Smith (D-Va.).

Marcantonio sought to strike from the measure a ban against payment of unemployment benefits to veterans who engage in work stoppages resulting from labor controversies.

The ban, he told the House, was "anti-labor in scope and concept."

The New Yorker's proposal to eliminate the language was rejected by a standing vote of 122 to 28.

Smith's Amendment
Smith's amendment would have made it illegal for anyone to "demand or receive any money or other thing of value from any veteran as a condition of unemployment, or require his membership, or non-membership, in any organization, as a condition of employment."

It was rejected by a standing vote of 112 to 19 after Marcantonio and others assailed it as "the open shop amendment" and a move toward the "exploitation of veterans."

Smith told the House the amendment was necessary because of "the wave of closed shop agreements" since the war started. Without it, he contended, many veterans would be unable to obtain jobs after their discharge unless they joined a union and paid initiation fees and dues.

Veterans, he said, should not be required to "pay tribute to any man on earth."

Russia Prepares For New Attacks

LONDON, May 18 (P)—The war on the Russian front was described today by the Berlin radio as having reached the "calm before the storm" stage as tonight's Russian communique broadcast from Moscow reported no changes on the long battle line.

Moscow's nightly bulletin, recorded by the Soviet monitor, was more terse than usual, containing only three sentences.

After stating that "during May 18 there were no important changes on the front," it related that ten German tanks were disabled or destroyed and that twenty-five enemy planes had been shot down Wednesday.

Germans Patrol Invasion Coast

Send Out Nightly Fleet of Bombers

By JAMES M. LONG
LONDON, May 18 (P)—The Germans have flung out their outposts against invasion — almost nightly patrols by E-boats and bombers which the Germans reported this week were ranging the channel and 500 miles of the English South coast from the Thames estuary westward around to Bristol.

However evident their purpose in feeling out the channel darkness these moonless nights, the E-boats even by German accounts are finding that the Allies have control of this naval no-man's-land as they rule the skies over the Nazi West coast.

Repeated Clashes Reported
The official German account of an E-boat patrol last night reported repeated clashes with British destroyers and motor torpedo boats.

The local enemy mentioned for such encounters was off Le Treport, which is near Dieppe, and thus the British evidently penetrated much near the coast of France than the Germans did to England's South coast.

While London, once the German air force's number one target, has remained raid-free, the Germans struck twice in force this week against Britain's South coast. They identified their targets as Portsmouth and the Bristol channel.

What if He'd Been Well?

Sick Marine Kills 8 Japanese, Apologizes for Having Malaria

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Editor

PHILADELPHIA, May 18 (P)—The story of a sick marine who killed eight Japs singlehanded at midnight was reported to the American Psychiatric Association today by Commander Dana L. Parnsworth and Lt. Commander Robert S. Wigton, of an unidentified South Pacific hospital ship.

"His story," they said, "was not considered by him as extraordinary. With a few others he had been manning a machine gun on the flank, when they were rushed from several directors just after midnight."

"Eight came toward him. He dispatched five with rifle fire, bayoneted the sixth. Then his bayonet came loose and he fought the seventh to death with the butt of his gun."

"By this time the eighth, an officer, was upon him and lunged with his saber. The marine raised his left and caught the thrust in his thigh and was thrown to the ground.

"The Jap took a swinging stroke at his neck and the marine warded it off with the outer part of his right hand. A similar stroke from the left he caught between left thumb and hand, grappled the sword away from the Jap and dispatched him with the weapon."

"He suggested apologetically that he should have done that in the first place instead of catching the first one with the outer part of his right hand."

"As an after-thought he added that he was supposed to tell us that he had malaria. He had chills and fever every other day for ten days prior to this incident. It occurred to us to wonder what he would have done if he had been a well man."

"The psychiatrist reported this as an example of the way nearly all men in the Pacific belittle their own achievements."

137 Speeders Pay $2,500 in Fines

Baltimore Traffic Violators Nabbed

BALTIMORE, May 18 (P)—One hundred and thirty-seven speeders, mostly war workers, were fined a total of $2,500 by Baltimore Traffic Court Magistrate William L. K. Barrett in one hour and forty-five minutes today.

Ninety-six of the offenders, whose fines established a record for a single day's business at the traffic court, were arrested by Patrolman Russell Spicer, a discharged coast guardman.

Many Complaints Received
Capt. Henry C. Kaste, of the traffic division, placed Spicer on the job when complaints of fast driving began piling up several weeks ago and regular traffic police were unsuccessful in apprehending the speeders.

Spicer, wearing civilian clothes, was sent out in an automobile to bring in drivers who had been reported speeding on several city thoroughfares leading to defense plants.

Six Fined $100 Each
Most of the defendants who faced Magistrate Barrett today pleaded guilty. Six were fined $100 each, one $75, twenty-five $50 each and thirteen $25 each.

"The first excuse the majority of them gave me is 'I'm a defense worker and was hurrying to work,'" Magistrate Barrett declared.

"Defense workers know they are exempted from military service only because they are defense workers. This does not mean they have special privileges to disregard the law," he added.

468,391 Tons of Bombs
Bombers of the air forces dropped 468,391 tons of bombs during this period—but Arnold said that "mere tonnage dropped doesn't mean anything."

The sustained bombing offensive against Germany, he said, has cut German aircraft production to one fourth of enemy planes. So far as present combat strength of the Luftwaffe is concerned, Arnold said he believed it was approximately the same as it was six months ago, but that the Germans no longer had any reserves to speak of.

The basic aim of the air offensive has been to destroy the German air force, he said, and "we realized when we undertook that problem that we had to get them in the factories, in the modification centers, the depots, the flying fields and in the air."

SOUTHEAST ASIA HEADQUARTERS, KANDY CEYLON, May 18 (P)—Jungle-fighting American and Chinese infantry under Brig. Gen. Allied headquarters announced today.

Bombing Attacks Not Yet at Peak

Gen. Arnold Hopes For Major Success

By WILLIAM FRYE
WASHINGTON, May 18 (P)—Reporting the destruction of 20,174 enemy planes by the army air forces against a loss of 6,134 in two and a half years of war, Gen. H. H. Arnold today declared the sustained bomber offensive over Europe has not reached its peak.

German fighter defense forces encountered by Allied bombers have dwindled by nearly fifty per cent, the air forces commander said, whereas "we can maintain our peak strength in planes, in men and in supplies."

Arnold said he did not know, and didn't believe anybody else knew, whether Germany could be knocked out of the war by bombing alone.

"However," he added, "we hope to get a pretty good idea of what can be expected in future air operations."

Despite the intensity of the battle in Europe, Arnold said air forces operations in the Pacific have been increased, although he added that strategic bombing so far "doesn't fit the Pacific theater" because of the necessity of long overwater flights.

Army air forces operating in the Pacific and Asiatic theaters sank 320,489 tons of Japanese shipping during the first four months of this year, he reported.

The biggest single month was January, when 159,704 tons were sent down.

Americans Now Only 65 Miles Away from Rome

6,000 Prisoners Taken by Allies

By EDWARD KENNEDY

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, NAPLES, May 18 (P)—Cassino and Formia, twin anchors of the German defense belt across Central Italy, have fallen before the great Allied offensive which began a week ago today, and victorious American troops are ripping into the Adolf Hitler line tonight at a point only thirty-five miles from the Anzio beachhead and sixty-five miles from Rome.

British and Polish troops stormed the shattered town of Cassino and dominating Monastery Hill behind it early today, capturing 1,500 prisoners and wiping out the cream of the "Green Devils" first parachute division which had defended the stronghold fanatically since January.

Americans Take Formia
American troops captured Formia—believed to be the coastal anchor of the Adolf Hitler line—and from nearby hills American big guns opened a heavy bombardment of Gaeta Point, three and a half miles across water from Formia. Masses of abandoned Nazi equipment were falling to Lt. Gen. Mark W. Clark's forces.

"The Gustav line now has ceased to exist," declared an Allied announcement. "The enemy has been completely outmaneuvered by the Allied armies in Italy. Troops of the Eighth army have fought their way forward in the Liri valley and during the last twenty-four hours developed a decisive pincer movement which cut highway six (leading from Cassino to Rome) and so prevented the withdrawal of the enemy."

6,000 Prisoners Taken
The bag of German prisoners mounted to more than 6,000 since the drive to destroy the enemy's forces in Italy began. Mountains of Nazi equipment were strewn across the battlefields in the wake of the swiftly-advancing Allied armies. Clark's Fifth army alone had captured materiel equivalent to two artillery divisions — much of it in perfect condition — in advancing (Continued on Page 19, Col. 4)

German General Taken Prisoner

Snatched on Crete By British Raiders

CAIRO, Friday, May 19 (P)—Daring British raiders captured a stoutish German general on the Nazi-held island of Crete despite the presence of his 20,000 troops last April 26, it was disclosed officially today by British officers.

The Nazi officer was Maj. Gen. Karl Heinrich Georg Ferdinand Kreipe, commander of the Twenty-second Panzer Grenadiers. The mere fact of his capture previously had been announced.

Caught on Highway
His automobile was driving inland from Iraklion, Crete, the night of April 26, carrying the general home from headquarters. A red light waved in the middle of the road and the car halted. A group of men surrounded the car, opened the door and a voice, in German, said:

"You must now consider yourselves British prisoners of war."

With pistols leveled, one British officer placed the German driver and others in the rear.

Dewey Support Predicted in 2 More States

Oregon, Alabama, Favor Governor

By D. HAROLD OLIVER
Associated Press Staff Writer

Dewey - for - president supporters looked to the last 1944 presidential preference primary—in Oregon today (Friday)—and an Alabama convention for more delegates to increase the constantly rising support for the New York governor for the GOP presidential nomination.

Oregon also will elect candidates for two United States Senate and four House seats. Gov. Dewey now has 321 pledged and claimed delegates out of 895 so far selected of the Republican national convention's allotted 1,059 votes. A majority—530—is necessary for a nomination.

Write-ins in Oregon

Oregon will elect fifteen Republican delegates. Since there are no entries on the Republican preference ballot—Wendell Wilkie withdrew and Gov. Dewey asked that his name be left off—the delegates will go to the winner of the write-in vote. Dewey, Wilkie, and Lieut. Comdr. Harold H. Stassen were forecast as favorites in the balloting.

It will be Dewey's second test among Northwest Republicans, conceded a Wilkie stronghold before the Wisconsin primary prompted the 1940 GOP nominee to take himself out of the race. On May 6 Washington state Republicans unanimously endorsed Dewey, but left their sixteen delegates uninstructed in case they want to give a final ballot complimentary vote to Eric Johnston, of Spokane, president of the United States Chamber of Commerce.

Alabama will name a delegation with fourteen national convention votes. While it may be uninstructed, both National Committeeman B. L. Nootin and State Chairman C. O. Vardaman delegate candidates have declared for Dewey.

10 More for Dewey

The New York governor added ten to his column yesterday when the latest unofficial returns from the May 9 West Virginia primary showed that number elected who had openly expressed for Dewey, with nine others publicly uncommitted. Dewey also had been assured in advance he would have Alaska's three delegates, chosen in convention yesterday.

President Roosevelt, who already has nearly 100 more delegates pledged and claimed than will be required for a fourth nomination will pick up Oregon's fourteen Democratic delegates today without challenge. His name is the only one entered on the Democratic preference ballot.

With Vermont's ten delegates with six convention votes instructed for him yesterday, the chief executive's delegate total jumped to 683 pledged and claimed. There will be 1,176 total votes in the convention with 589 required to name a standard bearer. Delegates have been selected so far with 816 votes.

Ewing Praises Roosevelt

Oscar Ewing, vice chairman of the Democratic National Committee, told the Vermont Democratic convention the American people "will not change administrations when they realize that to do so will prolong the war."

He added the election in November "will determine the kind of peace that is to follow this war."

95-Year-Old Lawyer Wants To Practice In Supreme Court

STROUDSBURG, Pa., May 18 (AP)—Dr. Joseph H. Shull—95 years old and still practicing both law and medicine—will apply Monday for admission to practice before the United States Supreme Court.

His son, president Judge Samuel Shull, of Monroe and Pike county courts, who is 66, will apply at the same time.

They will be sponsored by Rep. Walter, Easton, Pa., Democrat. Dr. Shull, who is in good health, divides his time between his two practices.

Born at Martin's Creek, Northampton county, he studied at Blair academy, Blairstown, N. J., and received a doctor of medicine degree from New York university in 1873, interned at Bellevue hospital, New York, and served as a ship's steward for several months before establishing a medical practice here in 1875.

Called frequently to offer medical testimony in courts, he was urged by jurists to study law. He was admitted to the bar in 1878 after having read law two years.

His law practice now is largely in orphans court although his medical practice is still general. He is a widower, and his son, unmarried, makes his home with him.

In 1918, there were 85,000 farm tractors on United States farms and a year later the total was 158,000.

Beauty Parlors Due For Price Control

WASHINGTON, May 18 (AP)—The House Banking committee moved today toward bringing beauty parlors and barber shops under wartime price controls.

The proposition was presented by Rep. Crawford (R-Mich.), and Price Administrator Chester Bowles told the committee OPA would "welcome an amendment to the price control act giving us the power to set charges of beauty parlors and barber shops."

On Crawford's suggestion, Bowles agreed to draft such an amendment. "I think the public is entitled to this protection," the price administrator said. "These services are important items in the cost of living, and there have been large increases in the cost of such services."

Walsh Appoints T. B. Harrington

BALTIMORE, May 18 (AP)—William C. Walsh, Maryland attorney general, has announced the appointment of T. Barton Harrington as assistant state attorney general.

Harrington, former speaker of the House of Delegates and assistant United States Attorney for the last ten years, will replace D. Heyward Hamilton, Jr. Hamilton will leave the state law department after two years of service, having joined the law firm of Hershey, Donaldson, Williams and Stanley.

WFA To Support Prices of Hogs

BALTIMORE, May 18 (AP)—The War Food Administration announced today the temporary support of farm prices for good to choice butcher hogs weighing from 180 to 200 pounds at $13.75 per 100 pounds. The support price is expected to help relieve congested markets and benefit the state's hog raisers, Joseph H. Blandford, chairman of the Maryland Agricultural War Board, said.

It was decided to extend the provision of the order issued for animals weighing from 200 to 270 pounds down to 180 pounds to facilitate butchering and marketing, Blandford explained.

A bomber can carry 1,500 magnesium incendiaries, the War Department reports.

That Inflationary Menace

In the People's Savings

THE DIRE MENACE of what official Washington has set up as the inflationary gap has been dinned into our ears so long and so often that it is a little refreshing to learn from an independent source that not all of the money which Americans are earning in these war days represents rash and reckless spending as soon as it is received.

A survey has just been completed by the National Association of Savings Banks to determine for what purposes depositors have been placing their earnings and other income into such institutions. The survey covered depositors in seventeen states, and it should offer a fair sampling.

Much the largest depositor group reported that it was saving on general principles for "future needs and opportunities." This group comprised almost forty-three per cent of those responding to the questionnaire. The next largest group—nearly thirteen per cent—were saving for home building, and 7.6 per cent more for refitting and refurbishing their present homes. This gives over twenty per cent for home-mindedness. Next in numbers came those who were saving for children's education—10.8 per cent. This purpose is essentially linked to the home notion, and adding together the home-minded groups gives us over thirty per cent of the whole. Next comes the group which reported its purpose in saving to be the purchase of a new automobile—nine per cent, a rather significant figure, all things considered. The remainder were scattered; some intended to establish a new business, others were planning for marriage and housekeeping, others had purchase of a farm in mind, and still others were aiming at more insurance and annuities.

Setting these facts against the allegations so often heard that all savings of the people in these war times are dangerously inflationary, the picture revealed doesn't seem so menacing. On the contrary, it presents a rather wholesome appearance because it represents a well-founded habit of thrift among the people and a realization by them of the uncertainties of the postwar period as well as a prudent endeavor to prepare against them. A reassuring phase of the whole position is the relatively large volume of these savings, which has surprised quite a number and which suggests a fundamental solidity the Washington warners seem to have overlooked.

A Gasoline Question

THERE ARE countless patriotic and loyal Americans who are observing gasoline rationing regulations at the letter, but who are asking a simple little question that has never been properly answered.

The question is: If there is such a shortage of gasoline, why is it that there is such a flourishing black market? Where does black market gasoline come from?

The answer is hard to get, because rationing officials do not like to talk about this phase of the matter. They will discuss counterfeit coupons and other tactics by which chiselers obtain gasoline, but they will not talk about the matter of supply.

It does seem that the rationing controls have been applied at the retailer and consumer level and if any controls exist above that point, they have not been made known to the people. Every coupon has been honored and yet there exists a black market. Does this, or does it not, indicate a surplus of gasoline available?

Does even OPA know?

Air Offensive Costly

But a Life-Saver

SIR ARCHIBALD SINCLAIR'S SUMMING UP before the House of Commons of the cost of the Allied air offensive against Germany brings home the appalling destructiveness of modern warfare. Sir Archibald spoke in terms of planes and men, not money. Financial losses are singularly unimportant for the moment, although they too, have an unhappy significance for the postwar world.

During the first four months of this year the air fleets operating from Britain over Germany and France lost 1,117 American bombers and 1,041 British bombers. The figures do not include losses of fighter planes. Approximately 11,000 American airmen and 7,000 British fliers were killed or taken prisoner.

On a percentage basis these figures are equally impressive. The United States, in its all-out air attacks on Germany, lost in four months in bombers alone fortyper cent of its total losses in all theaters of war during the entire year of 1943. British losses are forty-five per cent of the 1943 total.

It is useless to say that the Allies cannot afford such losses. They have afforded them. These men and these planes are gone. The fact would be intolerable if the rate of loss were not declining. But the figures show a steady decline in the effectiveness of German defense. The rate of loss has dropped from 3.1 per cent last August to less than one-half of one per cent in recent raids.

Reports place the toll of German fighter planes at 4,000 for the first four months of 1944, and Allied fliers have noted encouraging weakness of German anti-aircraft defense. Thousands of men have lost their lives over Germany and France, but they have saved the lives of countless thousands of invasion troops. The Allied air offensive was the only way.

The Bureaucratic Art

Of Passing the Buck

A DEMOCRATIC CONGRESSMAN from Oklahoma, member of a House subcommittee investigating gasoline rationing practices, cites the experience of a farmer in his state who couldn't sow his oats because two ration boards each contended the other should issue his gas ration.

The farmer has his farmhouse in Pottawatomie county, while most of his land is in Seminole county. So he applied to the Pottawatomie board for gasoline for his tractor, but was told he should go to the Seminole board. The latter board refused the request, telling him he really belonged to Pottawatomie in the first place.

The buck-passing continued for several days while the farmer, forced to leave his work, used up gasoline shuttling back and forth between the two counties seeking relief. By the time he finally got the gas, he had to give up planting 160 acres of oats in the heart of a region where there is an acute feed shortage.

The congressman told the chief of OPA gasoline rationing enforcement that OPA maladministration is forcing honest citizens into technical violations of OPA rules "so they can get on with the war. OPA rulings and misapplications of regulations are making violators out of American people who don't want to break any laws but are forced into technical breaches so they can do their jobs."

Many instances of obstruction such as this have resulted from overlapping and contradiction of authority, but here is a case where plain buck-passing was the case. Red tape, however, has much to do in both types, and it seems that the bureaucrats just can't get along without it, particularly when so many of them are put on the pay roll for political reasons regardless of their fitness to do the work they are supposed to do.

War-Rain Superstition

Displaced in Europe

THERE IS a superstitious belief that war and rainfall are concurrent phenomena. The theory, which was turned to financial advantage by professional rain-makers in bygone days, was that powder exploding in the upper atmosphere produced rain-making clouds.

The old superstition was long since exploded and it becomes even less tenable against the fact that Europe is undergoing its driest spring in a half century. Day and night there are detonations of unparalleled magnitude from the ground upward for four or five miles. If there were a trace of affinity between powder and precipitation, it would have started raining in Europe long ago and never stopped.

Property damage accidentally done to one Swiss town by American bombers has been estimated at $8,500,000, showing what Switzerland is missing by minding its own business.

The average person's income was up $232 last year, but the tax collector got there first.

Yes, it makes a difference in people's thinking when they get into a war zone.

That Old Suit of Clothes

By MARSHALL MASLIN

Yes, I do remember that old suit hanging at the back of my closet.

Yes, you are correct, I haven't worn it for ages, dear.

But you can't give it away. . . I still want it. I wouldn't dream of "getting rid of it." I'll wear it again some day. I'll wear it in the country. I'll take it to the mountains. I'll come in very handy. I might burn a hole in this suit. . . I might be in desperate need of another and there it would be, waiting for me. . . I wouldn't even sell it. You just forget all about it.

Well, maybe I AM selfish.

Yes, I have thought about how much somebody might be needing it. I understand all that and perhaps I do feel a bit ashamed of myself. . .

But you can't give that old suit away. You're not going to shame me out of it, either.

It's mine and I want to keep it.

I am NOT too fat to wear it any more. It's a very loose suit and it would fit me as well today as it did four years ago. . . It's NOT like my old army uniform. I wouldn't dare wear that down the street even if I still had it. But this suit is sentimental.

Fact is, I'm sentimental about it. I feel at home in it. It fits me like an old friendship, like a happy memory. It wrinkles just right. It hangs swell. When I wear it I don't need to be careful. It has a rip by the right pocket and a little hole in the left lapel where a cigarette burned it. It belongs on me, I belong in it. Catch me giving it away.

What did you say? . . . Well, perhaps men ARE funny, but you ask ANY man what he thinks of having his best old suit given away, flung out as it were into a cold and harsh and unappreciative world. Ask him and see what he says. He'll agree with every word I say. . .

Why woman, if I lost that suit, I'd feel practically naked, as if I didn't have a thing to wear. . . You can give away any old shoes you find, but don't you dare lay a hand on that old gray suit of mine!

Dies Took Himself

Out of Congress, Paul Mallon Says

By PAUL MALLON

WASHINGTON, May 18—Who got Dies?

Moderate cheers of the CIO Political Action committee, the Communists, and some otherwise intelligent liberals at the retirement of the congressional investigator of un-American activities, belie the popular opinion that they did it. Their journals and spokesmen suggest they were as surprised as anyone. Indeed, they do not even claim credit in their usual loud voice.

It is true enough that the government established some new war industries in the Dies Texas district, and the CIO has organized a number of these workers who came into Port Arthur and Beaumont from the North. It is no doubt probable also that he would have lost these two cities. His single opponent for the coming primary is a Beaumont man, while he comes from Orange, a small town, which also has a new shipyard.

Could Have Won

But his strength had always been in what is called the north counties of the district, which he carried even in an unsuccessful senatorial race against O'Daniel. It would have been a close, tough tussle, but he could have won.

This is the conviction of the whole Texas delegation in Congress, with a single exception of Lyndon Johnson, who alone thought Dies was done.

Even so, the Dies opponent was not a CIO man. He is an outstanding citizen of Beaumont, and a former state judge. The CIO would have supported him or in fact, anyone against Dies after what he has done to them—the last act of his investigating committee having been to subpoena the records of CIOPA.

Not Forced Out

Dies, therefore, got himself. His health has been bad for some years. He has been living lately under the guidance of a well-known ethnic, from which his latest instructions were to avoid public speaking and any strain on his throat for an indefinite period. His temperament never gave him much personal gratification from politics.

Some years ago he founded the famous "Demagogues Club," the name characterizing those chair-warming representatives in the Democratic cloakroom who talked one way in privacy with their colleagues and then went out on the House floor and made public speeches and cast public votes directly opposite their personal opinions.

He never cared much for the apparently indispensable demagoguery of politics and as he usually stuck his neck out frankly, he was usually in trouble. He had some money, and, therefore, did not have to retire to private practice, so no doubt the health angle was the controlling factor in his decision.

Committee Losing Ground

In truth, CIOPA seems to be losing ground now, at least here in Congress. They forced Senate consideration of the poll tax, but a number of senators on their own side of that issues balked at their pressure to invoke cloture, solely because they did not like their elbow-pushing, strong-arm tactics.

As a matter of final fact, CIOPA has not really gained anything from Congress as compared with other unions which work more quietly and with greater intelligence.

The Big Four brotherhoods are still the most powerful political influence everywhere, although you seldom see them on the front pages. Second in power are the postal clerks, and the AFL has been able to get legislation against CIO through Congress.

Too Belligerent

CIO is just louder, and uses threat publicly in a belligerent way. Such tactics inspire resentment as much as subservience. Indeed, it seems to be traveling the political path of the public utilities some years ago. Some of them set out to boss everything and to strong-arm everyone in line by fear-threats, but they eventually failed as all minority political action groups must fail which

Big Mechanized Farms Will Offer Stiff

Postwar Competition in Babson's Opinion

By ROGER W. BABSON

BABSON PARK, Mass., May 18.—As I have said before, I expect a few years of good business, after a short readjustment, following the collapse of Germany. About 1950, however, unless a marked spiritual awakening develops in the meantime—business will be headed for a tailspin.

It is impossible now to forecast what will happen during the years following 1950. If Russia is at that time able to give her people a satisfactory standard of living with full employment, America will then surely turn to the left with a vengeance; but if then, Russia has not made good economically, the New Deal will be thrown out the window and America will turn to the right.

This is very important for readers, who are contemplating buying any land other than for cash, to keep in mind. If not for cash, be sure you can pay in full before 1950. I certainly would want to be out of debt by 1950 or before, if possible.

Postwar Farming

As a hedge against inflation, it is well to own free of debt a small place with sufficient good land to feed your own family, provided you have some other job to supply you with cash. A small five or ten acre farm, with good soil and water conditions, should be excellent insurance. Commercial farming, however, will be just as dangerous in the years to come as it was in pre-war days.

Each year it will be more and more difficult for the average commercial farmer to compete with the great mechanized farms which are developing in this country and will develop throughout the world after this war is over. I also fear that even these large mechanized farms may also be headed for trouble due to political interference and regulation. Therefore, as a sound business, commercial farming does not appeal to me as a postwar investment.

Take Your Wife's Advice

It is true that the price of good farm land is on the up-grade and much of it will sell at even higher prices, but it is as dangerous to speculate in land as to speculate in anything else. This especially applies to those owning commercial citrus groves, fruit orchards, potato acreage and market gardens which have been paying big profits during the war. After the war the prices of such land could drop again to former prewar prices. Now may be the time to take your wife's advice and sell, leaving the money in the bank and buying the same property back again a few years hence at half the price.

By the way, it has always seemed to me very unfair that husbands can put their families in debt without the approval of the wife. It is true that a man cannot sell land without his wife signing the deed, but he can buy a whole township without her having anything to say about it! The women's clubs should get legislation passed to the effect that no deeds can be "recorded" unless—in the case of married persons—the purchase is approved by both husband and wife in the case of both sales and purchases. I am gradually coming to the conclusion that women have a better sense regarding real estate, mortgages, etc., than have most men.

Where To Settle

One thing sure, if I were a woman, I should hunt up a man for a husband who lives in one of the ten community property states. These are as follows: Arizona, California, Idaho, Louisiana, Nevada, New Mexico, Texas, Washington, Oklahoma and Oregon. These states are fairer to women. In these states a wife is entitled to half of her husband's income. If both are wise, they will make a settlement at the end of each year and have their own safe deposit boxes and bank accounts. Even the states under the old English common law are better for wives than are those states which still treat women unjustly.

Good land, good wives and good children are the best possible investments. But just having them "good" is not enough. When settling down for a home and family, be sure that you select the right state and the proper location within that State. Consider climate, taxes and opportunities. Service men returning from the war should especially consider these things. Be willing to spend some time and money in locating in the right spot considering your own physical, mental and spiritual characteristics.

P. S. Please do not write me for legal advice. The last time I mentioned "community property," I received several hundred letters. I know something about the laws of Massachusetts, but cannot keep posted on the laws of the forty-seven other states.

Public Officers

And Civility

From the Connellsville, Pa., Courier

There is an altogether too general "public be damned" attitude on the part of some government employees—both federal and state. Speaking of Pennsylvania, Governor Edward Martin has not only noted the fact but has taken steps to correct this form of disregard of the rights of the people, from whom comes the bread and butter of the multitude of government workers.

Governor Martin insists that state officials and other employees be courteous in their dealings with the public. That this is something that has long been overdue is generally recognized. To the credit of the great majority, however, it must be said they are uniformly polite.

From Harrisburg comes the information that "Commonwealth employees in other administrations, especially those dealing directly with the public, were prone to forget their responsibility to taxpayers, and sometimes politeness was forgotten." Since Governor Martin was inaugurated he has brought a noticeable change, we learn from the same source.

The campaign but reflects the governor's inherent courtesy, his democratic attitude toward all. He has given every evidence he is aware the public was responsible for his election and that it deserves every consideration. This is not because of any selfish motive. The governor is not eligible for re-election. He is every inch a gentleman, as many Connellsville people who know him personally will attest.

Slackened Work

In Tire Industry Causes Concern

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, May 18—Labor union restrictions on production are beginning to hold up the production of tires for military trucks. The amazing situation has been placed before the War Manpower Commission with an urgent plea from the rubber companies that something be done at once to persuade the labor unions to increase their production.

Faced with the fact that labor unions do not wish to permit rubber workers to increase their production, some of the rubber companies have frankly told the military authorities that if they expect trucks in such quantities as they are now demanding, they will have to bring experienced truck tire workers back from the army in order to increase production at home.

Many of the rubber workers are employed on piece work and, although they have an eight-hour day in which to work, they evidently have some sort of understanding among themselves that when they reach a certain amount of compensation, usually about $14 a day, they will slow up the work. Many of the labor union leaders recognize this defect and are trying to do what they can to overcome the difficulty. But labor union policies interfere and when officers of the union try to upset the restrictions, rival candidates appear on the scene in an effort to depose the officers who try to speed up production.

Keenan Sent to Akron

The War Production Board's Labor section has sent Joseph Keenan, of the A. F. of L., to Akron to try to persuade the CIO unions to do something about it. Not only is military production affected, but the civilians who have been using their tires on the expectation that passenger tires will soon be available will discover that their hopes may not be realized. In other words, it will take a much longer time to get civilian tires than the public has anticipated.

There is no lack of synthetic rubber, but there is a lack of manpower to do the job and the available manpower refuses to be spread over the job or to increase production. Absenteeism is running as high as eleven per cent and twelve per cent. The conspiracy of limiting production on a particular job is well known to everybody in the rubber industry. Good men and relatively poor men produce the same output. Usually in the early part of the day production is at a very substantial rate, but as it becomes apparent that the agreed-upon goal of compensation is about to be reached, there is a tendency to slow down so that, by actual measurement, seven hours of work is spread over eight hours.

Women Not Desired

The unions in the rubber industry have shown little willingness to see women brought in on the jobs now held by men. If women could be substituted for the easier jobs and more skilled workers transferred to the higher paid jobs, the problem would be simpler. But here again the union restrictions and understandings are preventing the transfer of skilled workers.

In some instances, due to the introduction of synthetic rubber, a change has been necessitated in making piece work prices. In view of the fact that penalties were imposed for changing prices—penalties that were really applicable to peacetime practices—it has become necessary for the companies temporarily to put the men on day work. Even though the workers are protected by being paid substantially more than their previous average earnings, they have been known to drop their output on day work to about fifty per cent of their previous piece work output. Then, when new piece work prices are worked out, an attempt is made to get piece work rates established which, on the basis of the day work performance, will give the workers higher earnings.

Direct Agreement the Solution

All this maneuvering is a subject that really ought to be taken care of directly between management and workers. The unions are the logical instrumentalities through which satisfactory working arrangements to get production may be made. For a time it was believed that the labor-management committees in the various plants would speed up production and take care of public interest. But evidently in many of the companies the union officers declined to serve as members of the labor-management committees and selected union men who were unable or did not have sufficient power or influence to change union labor regulations or decisions on the limitation of output.

The rubber companies in desperation have appealed to the army and navy to send back men over 30 years of age who have had considerable experience in building truck tires. Thus the armed forces are going to have to be weakened in order to take up the slack which has been deliberately developed by union labor leaders; limitation on production.

Father Cronin Offers Plan for Postwar Era

BALTIMORE, May 18 (P)—The Rev. John F. Cronin, S.S., St. Mary's Seminary economics professor who won a $1,000 prize with his plan for postwar employment, listed today the five major proposals in his proposed program.

He prefaced them with the specifications that they would have to be for long-term, full employment of human and material resources, based on an economy of free enterprise, and physically, economically and politically feasible. His major points:

Change tax and corporation law, as well as government policy, to facilitate financing of new industries.

Expand existing industry through low-cost, high-output policies to be achieved through business education, competition and anti-trust enforcement.

Strengthen federal reserve control over banks and finance companies to prevent peaks and slumps in the short-term loan market.

Formulate wage, tax and dividend policies to discourage savings beyond the absorptive power of the capital market.

Counteract inflation and deflation by retiring public debt through the banking system.

Dr. Cronin, considered an authority on labor matters, won one of seventeen prizes given by the Ann-heuser-Busch Brewing Company. They ranged from $1,000 to $25,000.

He said that after federal tax deductions, the remainder of his $1,000 prize would be given away. He mentioned a fund being gathered to provide a seminary scholarship honoring the late Very Rev. Anthony Vieban, S.S., and the fund for building the chapel of St. Mary's Seminary in Roland Park as among the recipients of portions of the award.

The second Belgian King, Leopold II, was the first ruler to abolish slavery.

Liberty Ship To Be Converted Into Carrier

BALTIMORE, May 18 (P)—A Liberty ship to be launched at Baltimore next Monday will be converted into an aircraft repair vessel, the first of its type, the navy said today.

The craft, to be christened the Chourre, will be sent into the water Monday at the Bethlehem-Fairfield shipyard and then outfitted in the usual manner. After trial runs, it will then be taken over by the Maritime commission and relayed to the navy.

Conversion is to be made at the key highway repair yard of the Bethlehem Steel Company, the navy said.

When completed, the vessel will be used as an auxiliary to airplane carriers, to do engine overhaul and structural repair on navy planes at sea.

Previously repair of planes at sea has been done only by small ships of the type known as "sea plane tenders."

The Chourre is to be named for the late Lt. Comdr. Emile Chourre, who was killed in 1938 when his plane crashed at Scott field, Ill. The sponsor is to be his daughter, Mrs. Edward A. Forde, Jr., of Cambridge, Mass.

Comdr. Chourre, a native of California, entered the naval reserve in 1917, and became a naval aviator. He served at various shore stations and on the Arctostook, Langley, Arkansas and Saratoga, later being made inspector of naval aircraft at San Diego, Calif. He was returning to San Diego from Anacostia when the fatal accident occurred.

Opper said that thirty-four lifeguards, six head lifeguards, fifty-three male attendants and forty-six female attendants were needed for the operation of the park pools.

New Officers Are Named By Women's Civic Club

Mrs. Nellie Wilson Footer Is Chosen President; Reports Made

The Women's Civic Club elected and installed officers for the ensuing year and heard the annual reports of the retiring officers and chairmen at the meeting yesterday in Emmanuel Episcopal parish house.

Mrs. Nellie Wilson Footer was elected president. Mrs. Julius E. Schindler, first vice president; Mrs. Ralph R. Webster, second vice president; Mrs. Harry C. Deal, recording secretary; Mrs. Raymond T. Beale, financial secretary; and Mrs. William A. Douglas, treasurer. Two directors were also elected, they are Mrs. George G. Young and Mrs. Morris Rosenbaum.

Officers Installed
Mrs. Thomas LeClear, retiring president, installed the officers and was presented with the past president's pin. The presentation was made by Mrs. Young, who also gave an address of appreciation of the service given the club by Mrs. LeClear.

A plea for women to think of the postwar plans which have been suggested, and be ready when the time comes to pass on them; to take an active part in national affairs, and to see that a representative woman or women be at the peace table, was made by Mrs. Rosenbaum in reporting on the keynote address given by Mrs. John L. Whitehurst, president of the Maryland State Federation of Women's Clubs, at the forty-fifth annual convention of the state federation held in Baltimore last month.

Mrs. Rosenbaum quoted Mrs. Whitehurst in urging the women to "inform yourselves and then develop a public postwar plan," also to "See that Democracy is not lost to posterity." Mrs. Rosenbaum also explained that the speaker had traveled extensively abroad during her three years as president of the General Federation of Women's Clubs, and was impressed by the stoicism of the British while in England, especially after encountering an enemy raid there, and stressed how much easier it is for Americans as the United States is not in the actual area of war.

Mrs. Charles L. Kopp gave her report as vice president and also for the program committee; Mrs. H. F. Wyatt, as second vice president and for the membership committee; Mrs. T. L. Richards, recording secretary; Mrs. George G. Young, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Ralph R. Webster, financial; Mrs. Miles G. Thompson, treasurer; Mrs. Cyril M. Croft, hospitality chairman; Mrs. William Claus, resolutions chairman; Mrs. Harry Deal, American home chairman; Mrs. L. R. Meyers, war service; Mrs. Fred T. Small, welfare; Mrs. Robert Work, civic; Mrs. Schindler, legislative; Mrs. H. V. Deming, literature; and Mrs. Frank Stuart Rowe, music.

The reports showed the club was able to contribute more to war service, welfare and civic service than any previous year, and had gained twenty new members; the War Work chairman and vice president were chairmen of the Red Cross surgical dressing classes; members served at the servicemen and women's lounge, the club was represented on the Co-ordinating Council for Juvenile Delinquency, sponsored trips and treats at the county homes, paid inspection trips to the YMCA, Girl Scouts and the Keating Memorial Day Nursery.

Makes Contribution
Yesterday the club voted to contribute $10 to the Woman's Field Army for the Control of Cancer. The committee chairmen and the heads of the five groups will be appointed at the September meeting.

The American Home Group, under the chairmanship of Mrs. Deal, entertained the new officers and members at a tea following the business session. A bouquet of pastel shades of snapdragons, and lavender iris centered the refreshment table, and a pink and white color scheme was carried out in the cake and refreshments.

Miss Elizabeth Lowndes and Mrs. Young presided at the punch bowl, and were assisted in serving by Mrs. Deal; Mrs. Robert Work, Mrs. Allan C. Fisher, Mrs. Walter Hindel and Miss Ada Miller. Bouquets of iris, snowballs and flowering crabapples were used in the decorations of the entire room. Fifty members attended.

Sunday afternoon when the bofors gunner, who won the silver star at the Rapido river crossing for rescuing a bunch of infantrymen from an exploding ammunition truck, got tired of battling the breeze with his buddies during an off duty stretch.

Starts Off Alone

He got up, yawned, stuck a captured Italian .44 in his hip pocket and asked if anyone cared to join him in a little stroll. Knowing the habits of Pvt. Lucien Thibodeau, no one volunteered, so he sighed regretfully and strolled down the Appian Way toward the front.

At the combat line where the doughboys lay dug in, an infantry captain asked Lucien where he was going.

"Up ahead," said Pvt. Thibodeau, "to see what's going on."

Since it's scarcely customary along the Garigliano river front for soldiers to go sauntering into no man's land for fun, the captain naturally assumed the lean and lanky private had a reconnaissance mission to perform.

Under American Barrage

Reaching enemy lines, Thibodeau was practically pinned down by an American artillery barrage, so he slipped into a deserted enemy pillbox and sweated out for thirty minutes, then proceeded into Scauri, a German-occupied town.

He was slipping from house to house when suddenly, as he entered a stone house, he heard the back door slam. Thibodeau slipped around to a back window and saw three Germans crawling away in the back yard.

He could have slipped away quietly, but it has been some time since he had seen a Kraut and what with his bofors work it probably would be some time before he would see another.

So he slipped out of the house, fired three shots at the Germans from nearby bushes to get them looking that way, returned to the house quietly and then, waving his revolver from the window, shouted to them to surrender.

They did. He frisked them, then started them back toward no man's land. When a German machine-gun opened up they had to crawl half a mile down a ditch. When they reached American lines again Thibodeau met the infantry captain, gave him one of the German knives, saluted and marched the men on down the road. The captain stood looking at them, scratching his head.

Pvt. Thibodeau, the "Wild Frenchman", may get bored again this Sunday and go for a stroll. It is also probable that none of his comrades will care to go with him.

of the veterans' administration. Michael J. Keating, vocational director of the regional office at Fort Howard, said today.

Applications for vocational training are being received in steadily increasing numbers, the director reported, and during the last several weeks sixty veterans have been placed in training in industrial plants, schools or colleges in the Baltimore area.

Keating said that when a veteran's right to vocational training has been established, the administration immediately seeks to place the applicant, provided he is physically fit for a job.

While in vocational training in school or college, a single veteran receives $80 per month in addition to his pension and a married one $10 extra each month plus $5 a month for each child under 18.

Those who are placed in training in plants, businesses or trades are paid the regular scale of wages at those establishments and their pensions continue through the training period.

Investigators Needed By Regional OPA

NEW YORK, May 18 (AP)—Special investigators for the Office of Price Administration are needed in the second region, which includes the states of New York, Delaware, Maryland, New Jersey, Pennsylvania and Washington, D. C., the United States Civil Service commission announced today.

Salary for the appointees will be $3,828, including federal overtime pay, and duties will involve investigation of infractions against OPA rules by staff personnel, the announcement said.

PROCLAMATION

WHEREAS, the President of the United States, and His Excellency, the Governor of the State of Maryland, have urged suggested patriotic exercises on "I AM AN AMERICAN DAY," set by Proclamation for Sunday, May 21; and

WHEREAS, Public Resolution 67, approved May 3, 1940, (54 Stat. 178), provides in part:

"That the third Sunday in May of each year be and hereby is set aside as Citizenship Day, and that the President of the United States is authorized and requested to issue annually a Proclamation setting aside that day as a public occasion for the recognition of all who, by coming of age or naturalization, have attained the status of citizenship, and the day shall be designated as "I AM AN AMERICAN DAY;"

WHEREAS, our nation has been enriched, both spiritually and materially, by the naturalization of many thousands of foreign-born men and women, and by the coming of age of great numbers of our youth, who have thereby achieved the full stature of citizenship; and

WHEREAS, these citizens have strengthened our country by their services at home and on the battlefield.

NOW, THEREFORE, I, Thomas S. Post, Mayor of the City of Cumberland, Maryland, pursuant to the aforesaid Public Resolution, do hereby proclaim Sunday, May 21, 1944, as "I AM AN AMERICAN DAY," and I call upon the people of Cumberland and immediate vicinity to give their full cooperation toward the honoring of American citizenship by giving special recognition to all of our citizens who have attained their majority, or who have been naturalized during the past year; to plan and hold, on or about May 21, exercises designed to assist our citizens, both native-born and naturalized, to understand more fully the great privileges and responsibilities of citizenship in our democracy.

GIVEN UNDER MY HAND AND SEAL THIS 18TH DAY OF MAY, 1944, WITH THE CORPORATE SEAL OF THE CITY OF CUMBERLAND AFFIXED HERETO.

THOMAS S. POST,
Mayor.

Air Condition To Be Greatly Curtailed

BALTIMORE, May 18 (AP) — Baltimoreans looked for a hot time in the old town this summer as a survey showed today that air conditioning systems in establishments throughout the city would curtail or cease operating because of a shortage of the necessary chemical cooling agent.

The few theaters, stores and offices that plan to operate their cooling systems expect to conserve the small amounts of the cooling agent in their possession, regulating the

Local Legislation Change Advocated By State Council

BALTIMORE, May 18 (P)—The Legislative Council has acted to bring about revision of Maryland's system of local legislation, directing its secretary to draw up a tentative bill for consideration at the June meeting.

Dr. Horace E. Flack, council secretary and director of the bureau of legislative reference, was requested to frame a bill embracing these provisions:

1. A definition of local law, to be approved by the Assembly.
2. A provision prohibiting the Assembly from passing on matters defined by it as purely local.
3. Changing the deadline for introduction of bills to twenty days before the adjournment, rather than ten days.

All Eyes Salute U. S. Navy Nurses

LONDON (P)—A new uniform is now appearing on English streets—that of the United States Navy nurse.

British WRENS, ATS and WAAPS and Polish ATS turn to gaze—with the men—at the nurses' well-cut, black topcoats, gold braid on their shoulders, white scarfs and round off-the-face black hats, trimmed with gold braid and insignia. They are members of a pioneer unit of 100 nurses.

Sea Cycles

LONDON (P)—The bicycle has come part of the equipment of some Allied destroyers for use in ports where taxis and other means of transport are scarce. Bicycles also are frequently used for exercise at sea and there are many laughs and spills as sailors pedal about narrow destroyer decks in pitching seas.

HARDING FIELD, La. (P)—The "44" version of Arabian zool suits is a GI mattress cover, holes cut on top and sides for sleek fittings, according to Lt. Henry W. Kent, participant in the North African campaign. "The Arabs are a hard-trading lot," Kent said, "but we could swap one mattress cover for 40 dozen eggs—no squawk there."

Beall High Will Dedicate Honor Roll for Graduates in Service

Patriotic Feature Will Mark Close of School Year on May 25

By RUDOLPH NICKEL
FROSTBURG, May 18—A patriotic feature of the closing week of Beall high school for the current year will be the dedication of the school's "Honor Roll of Graduates," serving with the armed forces, which is scheduled for Thursday, May 25, at 1:20 p. m., in the school auditorium.

Charles Harper, Clarysville, a junior, serving as chairman, will give a "prologue in explanation" and present the honor roll to the school. It will be accepted for the school by Principal Arthur W. Taylor, and for the servicemen and women by a serviceman home on furlough.

Spitznas Will Speak
James E. Spitznas, a former principal of the school and a veteran of World War I, will deliver the dedication address after the honor roll is unveiled by a group in charge of Miss Elizabeth Sanged, president of the Service Honor Roll Club. The invocation and benediction will be by the Rev. Walter V. Simon, member of the faculty. Music for the occasion will be furnished by the school band.

The honor roll, contained 450 names, representing graduating classes from 1919 to 1944, was realized as the result of untiring work by a group of sixty students comprising the Service Honor Roll Club, organized last fall under direction of Prof. Roger X. Day, sponsor, assisted by Miss Grace Pinzel. The purpose of the club is to give service to the boy and girl graduates in the service.

Club members write to a partial group of the entire list every two weeks, a different group being drawn semi-monthly. Copies of Beall High Chime, the school paper, are also mailed, and the highlight of the entire project is the preparation of a biographical sketch of the entire personnel of all class from 1919 to 1944, a copy of which will be sent to each boy and girl in the service. The sketches are arranged by classes and the graduates in service will receive only the sketch of members of his or her own class.

Letters Are Filed
The finances for the work connected with the honor roll project were first supplied by the Service Honor Roll Club members, but recently the sum of $35 was supplied by the various home rooms of the school.

The names of the honor roll, which is to be placed in the vestibule leading to the main lobby of the building, were painted by Calvin Beaman, a student of Mt. Savage. The honor roll design was planned by Prof. Maurice Nelson, Prof. J. Stanley Hunter and Miss Anna Cook, of the faculty.

Prof. Roger X. Day, sponsor of the entire project, is keeping a file of numerous letters of acknowledgment from soldiers and sailors in every part of the world, expressing appreciation of the fact that they are not being forgotten by the parent student body of Beall high school.

Deer Park Man Dies when Truck Drops in River

George Marley, 74, Suffocated by Garbage Truck Debris

By GEORGE H. HANST
OAKLAND, May 18—Clean-up day in the village of Deer Park was a fatal one for George Marley, 74, who was covered with debris when a truck overturned and died of suffocation or possible drowning before he could be reached.

The truck upset en route to the town dump on the Charles Ashby property nearby. While crossing a small bridge over the headwaters of Little Youghiogheny river, the planking gave way, dropping him into about two feet of water, covering him with ashes, etc. It was an hour before his body was recovered and attempts at artificial respiration failed.

Scott Tasker was pinned beneath the truck but not seriously injured. Mason Madigan was thrown clear of the wreckage. All three were riding on the loaded truck. Alonzo Warnick and Walter Flanagan, in the cab of the truck, were not injured.

It was the first fatal accident of the year for Garrett county but occurred on a private roadway.

Investigating the accident were Dr. E. I. Baumgartner, county medical examiner; Neil C. Fraley, state attorney; W. D. Castee, deputy sheriff; and Trooper Blair Buckel, of the state police. Fraley said an inquest was unnecessary.

Marley is survived by his widow, three sons and one daughter, Mrs. Raymond Paugh, Deer Park; Clarence Marley, Theodore Marley and Walter Marley, all of West Virginia; also two sisters, Mrs. D. R. Hinebaugh and Mrs. Robert Thrasher, Deer Park.

Kirke L. Simpson Says:

Reports from Italy Show Nazis
Are in Danger of Major Defeat

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON

Associated Press War Analyst

There is a broad intimation in battle bulletins from Italy that Allied troops which stormed over the Gustav defense line from end to end in a relentless seven-day battle also may have cracked the Adolf Hitler front behind it on both flanks and in the center.

No such claim is made by Allied headquarters in Naples or was voiced in Washington by Secretary Simpson in his weekly war review. It is obvious, however, that the Germans are in full retreat before American troops on the left flank to escape entrapment on Gaeta point; that the northern anchor of the Hitler line already is in danger of being turned west of captured Cassino; and that the French seizure of Esperia on the south slope of the Liri valley gravely menaces the new Nazi defense system in center.

Formia, logical coastal anchor point for the Hitler line, was taken by American forces at a pace indicating German flight. Its fall and American close investment of Itri road junction carried the Allied left flank forward fifteen miles from its week-old jump-off.

French forces on the Fifth army right flank paralleled the coast slope drive in capture of Esperia. Whatever Nazi troops still cling to outflanked defenses on the Aurunci plateau are in grave danger of being cut off as completely as were those trapped in Cassino.

The French thrust south of the Liri bids fair to do more than that. It could herald an immediate repeat performance of the Allied tactic that broke the Gustav line in the center to let charging Eighth army tanks through to nip off Cassino and close with the valley segment of the Hitler line.

From Esperia the French are in a position to outflank Pontecorvo north of the Liri and a prime communications pivot in the Hitler line. That would drive a critical dent into the Hitler line in the center. The main central road feeder for the whole German secondary defense from Piedmont north of the via Casilina to Itri on the coastal flank is the Pico-Pontecorvo connection with the vital German communications lateral, highway eighty-two.

It goes without saying that British and Polish elements of the Eighth army are closing in on Piedmont and Aquina in the north as American forces have clamped their grip on Itri in the south. It must follow that an Allied break-through to disrupt traffic on highway 82 would shatter the Hitler front line as certainly as the fall of Sam Glorio and by-passing of Formia led to complete disintegration of the Gustav defense system.

It remains to be seen whether the Germans—military realists—will risk cumulative field disasters in Italy or begin some general retreat up the peninsular "boot" to the short and naturally all but impregnable defense positions awaiting them at its head.

HITE RECEIVES
SUSPENDED SENTENCE
ON LARCENY CHARGE
Charged with larceny, Melvin D. Hite, 27, Cresaptown, received a suspended sentence of three months in the Maryland House of Correction after he pleaded guilty to a charge of stealing $35 from his sister's home in Locust Grove Wednesday.

The sentence was suspended because of Hite's physical condition and on condition that he keep away from the home of his sister, Mrs. Hazel Custer, and make restitution of the money within three months.

Hite appeared at the hearing in poor health as a result of a recent attack of influenza, attaches said.

Hite, without a job, went to live with his sister on May 11. Mrs. Custer, who receives $97 a month from the Allegany County Welfare Board to support herself and her five children, was working at the home of a neighbor Wednesday. When she returned both her brother and $35 from a $40 relief check were missing.

Hite was arrested shortly after 9 o'clock Wednesday evening by Sgt. Harold C. Carl, Trooper G. M. Ro-truck and Officer Arthur Kennel in a Baltimore avenue beer tavern. The Cresaptown man admitted taking the money and told officers he spent all of it except $17, officers said.

"Sissy Stuff" Isn't For William Boyd

To the movie industry, which thinks in caviar, the western epic is bread and butter. It pays the rent and always meets the payroll. The pictures are perennial. Harry Sherman, producer of the famous Hopalong Cassidy films, decided to make six of these a year. They were immediate gold mines.

Three characters dominate all "Pop" Sherman's "Hoppy" films: William Boyd, as the Robin Hood of the prairies, wearing that same picturesque cowboy outfit; Andy Clyde, playing California Carlson, bewhiskered and hungry sidekick of Hoppy's; and Jimmy Rogers (son of the famous Will) who holds up the heart interest. Boyd himself, once a Cecil B. DeMille romantic, has long since said goodbye to "sissy stuff." His manly lips never touch a lovely Sherman heroine's.

"Texas Masquerade," Sherman's fifty-first film in this series, is now

Dog-Ticks Reported Prevalent in State

BALTIMORE, May 18 (AP)—Dr. C. H. Halliday, state epidemiologist, disclosed today that dog-ticks, the carriers of spotted fever, have been reported unusually prevalent in various areas of Maryland this year.

Dr. Halliday said that spotted fever has occurred in every county in the state since it was first recognized here in 1929.

Although only about one in every 300 ticks is capable of infecting humans, the mortality from the disease is about twenty-five per cent.

The disease has been most prevalent near Laurel and in areas of Prince George's Montgomery, Anne Arundel, Frederick and Carroll counties, Dr. Halliday said. His report showed that there were fifty-seven cases in the counties and one in Baltimore last year.

The United States Public Health Service has developed a vaccine which is of great help in preventing the fever and which is available at state and county health officers.

Cairo Cafe Society Takes to Drugs

CAIRO (AP)—Egypt's "cafe society" is taking to drugs. This is the considered opinion of a senior Egyptian police official in the Anti-Narcotics branch. His explanation is the high cost of whiskey. A bottle of black market Scotch in Cairo today costs from $16 to $20. An ounce (about two and three-quarter pounds) of Hashish costs about $400. A few ounces of Hashish, which is the local variety of Marihuana, is much more potent than several bottles of the distillers' best.

The aggregate area of United States national forests is about one and one-third times the area of Texas.

Pirates Explode In Ninth To Down Brooklyn, 4 to 3

Bucs Score All Their Runs in Final Frame, Chasing Melton

PITTSBURGH, May 18 (AP)—Held in check by Ruben Melton for eight innings, the Pittsburgh Pirates exploded for five hits and four runs in the ninth before a man was reached to defeat the Brooklyn Dodgers, 4-3 today.

Rube Melton appeared to have a shutout going into the ninth, but lost his effectiveness and Bill Lohrman, who relieved him, was unable to check the Pirates' drive. The winning run scored when Spud Davis singled, tallying Babe Dahlgren.

The Dodgers scored twice in the second inning on Augie Galan's double, Bobby Bragan's triple and Pat Ankenman's single. Bragan hit his second three-bagger in the seventh and scored on a squeeze play. Rube Melton bunting safely with two strikes on him.

Bill Russell began the Pirates' half of the ninth by beating out a hit to Ankenman. Bob Elliott hit to Bill Hart, who made a wild throw to second and both runners were safe. Frank Gustine singled, scoring Russell. Babe Dahlgren walked and Vince DiMaggio scored two with another single. At this point, Lohrman came in to yield singles to Al Rubeling and Davis.

Max Butcher received credit for the victory. The box:

Airport Situation Here Will Be Put Up to Roosevelt

Subcommittee of Senators and Representatives To See President

The local airport situation is to be put up to President Roosevelt in the immediate future.

A telegraphic message so stating was received last evening by directors of the chamber of commerce at their monthly meeting from United States Senator George L. Rackoff. At the same time a similar message was received by the Cumberland News from Representative J. Glenn Beall, of this city, who was instrumental in bringing about a meeting held yesterday in Washington on the subject.

The Washington meeting was held by senators and representatives whose communities were affected by an executive order stopping work on several airports in their respective communities. The group appointed a subcommittee of three senators and three representatives to wait on the president asking him to rescind this executive order.

Will Make Report

This subcommittee is expected to report to the full committee next week.

There is some uncertainty about the Cumberland airport. Work was halted there pending a national survey of all such projects but Tuesday Senator Tydings was reported in an Associated Press Washington dispatch as saying that he had been informed the local project would be completed. The senator was quoted as saying he had been informed that the War Department had decided to include it among those on which work would be resumed because it was so near completion. A report to this effect was expected to be made soon, possibly the coming week.

Discussion of the airport situation brought about the adoption of a resolution asking the mayor and city council, the city attorney and the city engineer to meet with the directors of the chamber and its airport committee in the near future for a general discussion of the airport with the object of taking such further action as may be deemed advisable looking to speedy completion of the project.

Announcement was made that the meetings formerly held at chamber headquarters by Hagerstown representatives of the Office of Defense Transportation would be resumed Monday.

Hawk Describes Advantages of Radiant Heating

Engineer Says System Costs Same as Good Conventional Type

"Radiant heating is tops!" That is the description one enthusiastic user gave for the newest development in heating systems, said Charles A. Hawk, Engineering Service department of the A. M. Byers Company, Pittsburgh, to the members of the Home Ownership Savings Club last evening at the City hall auditorium.

The heating engineer listed some of the advantages of the system as constant temperature, convenience, lack of humidity problems, less dust, and the fact that furniture may be placed anywhere one wishes.

Radiant heating, Hawk declared, is the only completely satisfactory system for homes without basements. Since such homes use concrete slabs for the ground floor, radiant heating units may be installed economically.

Hot Water Used

In most homes, radiant heating may be achieved through one inch wrought iron pipes imbedded in concrete slabs. Hot water, forced through the pipes by a pump, is the most satisfactory means of supplying heat, he explained.

Any kind of fuel may be used. The choice of fuel, Hawk added, will depend entirely on local conditions.

If a home owner desires to have hardwood floors the pipes are merely laid between floors, he added. Since hot water systems usually operate at temperatures of about 120 degrees, the heat will not damage the wood.

A satisfactory two story installation would be to install floor coils for the first floor and ceiling coils for the second story. Of course, if ceiling coils are used, one must use insulation to prevent loss of heat into the attic.

Humidity Is Constant

One of the characteristics of radiant heating is constant humidity. Persons who suffer from sinus troubles will appreciate this factor, the heating engineer declared.

Radiant heating need not cost any more than any good conventional heating system, Hawk said. He cited one case of a house which cost $5,200. The complete heating system, which included a hot water furnace with a stoker, cost $500. In more expensive homes, the proportionate cost is even less.

The cost of operation is slightly less than for conventional systems, Hawk explained. He cited the case of a home heated by oil on one half the amount of fuel the ration board allowed.

WINS NAVY WINGS—George H. Sampson, 20, son of Mrs. Ira M. Sampson, 123 Humboldt street, won the Navy Wings of Gold award for his service in the navy. He was commissioned an ensign in the naval reserve last week, following completion of the prescribed flight training course at the naval air training center, Pensacola, Fla., the "Annapolis of the Air." Having been designated a naval aviator, Ensign Sampson will go on active duty at one of the navy's air operational training centers before being assigned to a combat zone.

Associated Press Spring Meeting Opens Here Today

Al Wall, Who Covered War in England, Will Speak Tomorrow

Members of the Chesapeake Association of the Associated Press will open a two-day spring meeting at the Cumberland Country Club this afternoon, with a business meeting at 5 o'clock followed by a buffet dinner.

An address at a dinner at the Country Club Saturday night by Al Wall, the first American newspaperman to get into ruined Coventry will feature the closing session. Wall is now editor on the Associated Press foreign desk in New York.

Tomorrow morning the newspapermen, who will come from various cities in Maryland, Pennsylvania, and the District of Columbia, will be taken on a tour of the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company, the Allegheny Ordnance plant, and the Celanese corporation. At 1:30 a luncheon will be given at the Country Club after which the afternoon will be devoted to golf and other forms of entertainment.

Local Company Host

The visitors will be guests of the Times and Alleghenian Company, which publishes the Cumberland Evening Times, the Sunday Times, and the Cumberland News. John J. McMullen is president of the company.

William L. Geppert, managing editor of the NEWS, is president of the Chesapeake Associated Press Association.

Wall, the dinner speaker, watched England slowly come back from her lowest point in history, reported the rise of the RAF, Britain's re-arming and the reconstituting of her forces as she swung from the defensive to the offensive.

In February, 1942, he went to a "Northern British Naval Base" as American correspondent to the British home front on the pool arrangement whereby AP, United Press and International News Service were allowed one man with the fleet. Among other things, during the next five months, he was formally presented to King George VI when he made one of his inspections.

Late in the spring a powerful American task force showed up and Wall joined it, taking passage on the flashship. On this ship for some eight weeks, he went on a number of punitive expeditions into the far north, visited Iceland, crossed the Arctic circle a number of times, sailed up and down the coast of Norway on some operations, including one which was a diversion for the invasion of Sicily.

Then he went back to London and reported the beginning of the big aerial offensive.

Wall, born at Indianapolis in 1901, was graduated from the University of Colorado and worked on the Denver Rocky Mountain News. He joined the AP in Denver in 1927 and was one of the first to volunteer for foreign assignment upon the entrance of the United States into World War II.

He was assigned to London after 13 years of service in AP bureaus in Denver, Chicago, Cheyenne, Oklahoma City, Tulsa and New York. He arrived in London during the Nazi blitz in August, 1940, and reported the war until his return to New York on a naval assignment in August, 1943.

Artemas, Pa., Soldier Is Wounded in Action

An Artemas, Pa., soldier, Pvt. Elmer Wise Mountain, son of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer H. Mountain, was wounded in action, March 28, on the Anzio beachhead, his parents were advised by the War Department.

He attended Everett, Pa., high school and was working at the Celanese plant when he went into service last August. He went overseas early in February.

Wolf Furniture Company To Open New Store Today

Special Ceremonies Planned from 7 to 9 p. m., at 42 Baltimore Street

Ceremonies marking the formal opening of the Wolf Furniture Company store in its new location at 42-46 Baltimore street will be held today from 7 to 9 p. m.

George A. Wolf and Herbert T. Wolf, owners of the chain of eleven furniture stores, 10 of which are operating in Pennsylvania, will attend the ceremonies, accompanied by several key men from the company's main store in Altoona, Pa.

Building Remodeled

The three-story Baltimore street structure has been completely remodeled and renovated and workers were busily engaged yesterday in moving in and placing furniture throughout the building.

Thomas J. Murtha, who has managed the store in its former location at 38 North Mechanic street since 1940, stated yesterday that the new building contains approximately 20,000 square feet of floor space, or three times the size of the old quarters. The color scheme throughout is buff and green and new floor covering throughout adds to the neat appearance of the store.

Displays on the first floor include living room furniture, lamps and accessories. Tables and desks are featured on the mezzanine floor. The main section of the second floor is devoted entirely to the display of bedroom furniture while the annex on the same floor contains bedding and juvenile furniture and baby carriages. Dining room and breakfast furniture, refrigerators, stoves and other kitchen accessories are displayed in the main section of the third floor while the annex features rugs and linoleums.

Came Here in 1939

Murtha said that the move to larger quarters was necessitated due to the rapid increase in business.

Printers Elect Frazier; Oppose AFL Affiliation

Barringer Is Re-elected; Randolph Choice for I. T. U. Presidency

William H. Frazier was elected president of Cumberland Typographical Union No. 244 at the annual election held Wednesday in the plant of the Times and Alleghenian Company.

Frazier succeeds W. R. Shaner, who has served as head of the organization for the past six years but was not a candidate for reelection.

Cecil S. Grimshaw was elected vice-president; John E. Miller, recording secretary; Charles A. Barringer, secretary-treasurer; William A. Miller, journal correspondent; Robert J. Hutton, sergeant-at-arms, and James A. Close, Cecil S. Grimshaw and Delbert L. Wenschhoff, members of the auditing committee. The re-election of Barringer incidentally marks his twenty-third term as secretary-treasurer. He was first elected in 1920.

Frazier also was elected delegate to the I.T.U. convention, which will be held in Grand Rapids, Mich., next fall. Mary Lutenam was named as alternate.

Randolph Is Choice

Woodruff Randolph, of Chicago, was the choice of members of the local union in the contest for president of the International Typographical Union. He received twenty out of a possible thirty-one votes.

Other choices on the national ticket include:

Clarence J. Desper, Washington, D. C., for first vice-president; Elmer Brown, New York, for second vice-president; Jack Gill, Cleveland, for secretary-treasurer; Jack McGregory, Birmingham, Ala., for board of auditors; Roy T. Baker, Denver, Col.; Guy M. Billingsley, Washington, D. C.; and William R. Lucas, Toronto, Can., for trustees of the Union Printers Home; John F. Perkins, Boston, for agent Union Printers Home. Five national delegates were named to the A. P. of L. convention in event the I.T.U. votes to re-affiliate with the A. P. of L., and one delegate was named to the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada.

Oppose Re-affiliation

A referendum vote on the question of re-affiliating with the American Federation of Labor showed members of Cumberland Typographical Union opposed to the move. The final vote was 25 against and six for.

Proposition No. 2 calling for the amending of the constitution by eliminating words so as to reduce the pension and mortality assessment from two and one-half per cent to two per cent, allocating seventeen per cent thereof to the mortality fund and eighty-three per cent to the pension fund; and adding a new section to provide for restoration of the two and one-half per cent rate when the reserve in the pension fund reaches $2,000,000, carried locally by a vote of twenty-three to eight.

Thirty-one out of a possible forty-seven local members cast ballots. The election committee comprised W. A. Thompson, J. E. Mackert and J. L. Ways.

FIND NEW HOME—A few of the 324 Bob White quail, which were released yesterday afternoon in Allegany county by Joseph A. Minke and Battie Mixon are shown above. Minke is holding a few as they were released from one of the boxes. Each box contained three pair. Immediately upon release the quail scattered through the grass at the Cumberland fair grounds and soon disappeared. The birds released yesterday average seven ounces in weight.

Wardens Release 324 Bob White Quail in County

Birds Regarded as Farmer's Friends Arrive from State Game Farm

A shipment of 324 Bob White quail, equally divided between male and female birds, was released throughout Allegany county yesterday afternoon by Joseph A. Minke, regional game warden, and Battie Mixon, deputy warden.

The birds arriving in fine condition, having been shipped from the state hatchery at Gwynbrook State Game Farm, Glyndon, Md., only a few hours before their arrival at 2:15 p. m.

Minke said the birds are practically matured and a number of the hens had laid eggs during the trip.

The quail were released in the various localities in pairs and the hens, on the average, should hatch out from fourteen to eighteen baby quail by late June or early July, the game official estimated. These new chicks should be fully matured by the time the hunting season starts.

It is not expected that all of the birds in the shipment will survive, since some of either the birds or their eggs will be lost through the activities of predatory birds or animals, Minke said. However if fifty per cent survive, the quail population in the county will be greatly increased by November, he asserted.

Quail not only provide hunters with one of the best of sports in shooting season but are the farmers' friends. Each bird in the summer months eats an estimated 1,000 insects, the warden said.

Reconversion of Kelly-Springfield Plant Is Explained to Kiwanians

Powers Asserts Entire Nation Is Watching Progress of Change Here

Problems in reconverting the Kelly Springfield plant from small arms manufacture to tire production were explained to members of the Kiwanis club here yesterday by Marion Powers, field sales manager of the Kelly.

The company, Powers said, was happy to discontinue manufacture of ammunition as it was proof that the supply needed by the armed forces was guaranteed. "We were happy, too," the speaker added, to get away from such strict government control which is necessary in the manufacture of ammunition.

Powers asserted that the entire nation was watching the progress of the reconversion here, its effect on the labor situation, and other factors. He declared that the change-over hasn't seriously affected the economic life of Cumberland, although it has meant a reduction in payrolls and many women have been thrown out of employment. He added that the majority of the older men in point of service have been retained.

Reconversion Is Slow

Reconversion to tire production is not as fast as from tire work to ammunition manufacture, Powers told the Kiwanians, saying it will take a long time to get into full production and that the unemployment problem may be a serious one.

The company is doing more than a reconversion job, Powers said. In fact, he declared, "we have really reconstructed the plant." Pointing out that there are hundreds of operations in tire manufacturing, such as mixing, blending, curing, building and shaping of tires, which require proper facilities. The speaker asserted that today's modern plant is all on one floor which helps to reduce production costs to a minimum.

Asserting that there have been cycles in business before and there will be cycles again, Powers said business will have its peaks and valleys again just as in the past. Therefore, it is important that a company use all the facilities of a modern plant and must have a long range program coupled with courage.

Buy New Equipment

In reconverting the Kelly plant Powers said new equipment has been bought which will enable the company to make a better product, and he declared the Kelly officials feel sure they can keep Kelly in the competitive field in the postwar period. He outlined some of the difficulties in getting equipment, due to priorities and other government restrictions.

Production of tires will be increased considerably in the third quarter, beginning July 1, the speaker explained. At the present time he said about eighty per cent of the truck tire output is going to the government for use by the armed forces, and as a result civilian transportation must wait. He said the company expects to be able to release a sizeable part of its output of large truck tires in the fourth quarter for civilian use. Passenger tires will be loosened considerably in the next quarter he said, with dealers getting a larger share of the output.

Plans Are Sound

The company has found it necessary to revamp its entire personnel since the manufacture of ammunition was discontinued, Powers declared, adding that "there is a big training program ahead of us." Labor problems also enter into the picture, the speaker said, adding that he thought there would be a "new normal" wage after the war.

In concluding his address Powers told the Kiwanians that the plans of the Kelly are sound, that it will manufacture quality products, has a sound merchandising policy and he said he feels sure the company will continue to contribute to the prosperity of Cumberland.

Man Known Here Figures In Channel Episode

Second Lt. Harry H. Mitchell, Jr., of Martinsburg, W. Va., brother of Mrs. George P. McDermott, 844 Gephart drive, and well known here, figured prominently in a harrowing war experience last Friday in the English Channel.

Lt. Mitchell, according to Dixie Tighe, of the International News Service, was the bombardier on a Flying Fortress which made a forced landing in the choppy channel after a flak burst ripped through the plane.

The navigator, fatally wounded, thought only of his flying mates and insisted that he be buried at sea. Lt. Mitchell, first to pull himself aboard a tiny dinghy, hauled in his comrades. The navigator, who had died in the interim, was lowered into his watery grave.
